

Flint Bishop Recognised As ‘Leaders In Their Field’

Leading Midlands law firm Flint Bishop is celebrating after three of its partners were recognised as ‘Leaders in their Field’ by Chambers UK, the UK’s leading legal research directory.

The firm, which has offices in Derby and Ashbourne, has seen property partners John Taylor and Ian Beardmore along with licensing partner Andrew Cochrane all recognised for their work in their respective areas.

Launched in 1990, Chambers UK is an annual publication, which ranks solicitors and barristers in more than 60 specialist areas of law after extensive research by the Chambers team.

Nominations are put forward by peers, professionals, referees and clients, as well as by the Chambers team itself and are assessed following thousands of interviews with lawyers and clients.

Rankings are based on technical legal ability, client service, commercial astuteness, diligence, commitment and the other qualities that are most valued by clients.

Final rankings will be announced when the directory is published in October of this year.

This is not the first time that Flint Bishop has been represented in the directory; last year, John Taylor was also recognised for his work.

Speaking about the accolade, senior partner & head of commercial property Ian Beardmore said:

“It’s wonderful to be recognised again by Chambers UK; the publication has a strong reputation and is known to be one of the best independent assessments of the legal sector, so it’s an honour to be named as one of the ‘Leaders in their Field’

Although it sounds a little clichéd we do work really hard for our clients and it is tremendously gratifying when your skills, hard work and contribution are recognised by peers and clients alike.”
